HELP WANTED - ANNUAL AUDIT

Ed Schroeder (treasurer for the Center) needs help. He is looking for someone to help him with auditing the books. This is something the Center must do from time to time. The person or persons auditing can not be from the board and does not need to be a CPA. Ed told me that this would not require some special degree or financial training only interest an average understanding of bookkeeping. The time frame for this project would be about 3 hours.

This project doesn't require great physical strength, large commitment, restricted time frame, or a special degree...Maybe this is something you as a member could do to help the Center. Please contact Ed Schroeder 916-966-2831 edzard34@yahoo.com

A CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION
The Uninvited Guest

Like many others, during the holiday season, I got my wires crossed and presented at an event that I was not invited to. As I approached the Shepard Garden and Art Center, and saw several familiar faces, I thought I was late for my club meeting. It turns out my club was not having a meeting that night, and I had intruded in on the Bonsai Clubs Christmas Dinner. Embarrassed? Yes. Unwelcome? No. Thanks to Kitty Gerwig, who insisted I stay and have something to eat, and who said "I will know if you leave, you're my guest".

Thank you Kitty. I consider myself very, very lucky.

To everyone else I can only say....I'm not the one that ate all that homemade apple pie.

Happy Holidays.
Mary Lou Brennan

THANK YOU

To all the Sacramento Floral Guild Members for the spectacular job you have done in decorating the entire Center. Your members gave a lot of time and effort in displaying their talents for all other clubs and guests to enjoy.

It's the first time I've seen a waterfall on stage!

A special holiday thank you.

JAPANESE FLOWER SHOW FLORAL SYMPHONY

The Ikebana Sogetsu Class (Japanese Flower arranging) in Sacramento will present a flower show to the public of our floral arrangements when we celebrate our 10th Anniversary of this class on February 18-19, 2012, from 10:00 AM - 4:00 PM.

The show theme is "FLORAL SYMPHONY". There will be demonstrations on both days from 1:00 - 3:00 pm. There will also be containers and flower arrangements for sale as well as a raffle of prizes.

This class of Ikebana (Japanese flower arranging) is taught by a Master teacher from San Jose, Kika Shibata. The class meets once a month on the 2nd Thursday (9:45-2:45) from September through June of each year. We have both morning and afternoon classes - the morning class is based on specific designs from the text book, while free and creative style is emphasized in the afternoon class with a specific theme. As we complete our arrangements, our teacher critiques each one's work. Our class members seem to enjoy learning, and also enjoy the friendships and social contacts in this class.

Submitted by Helen Tashima, coordinator of the class
